

COURSE OUTCOME, DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

After completing the course in political science the students will be better equipped to understand the key concepts related to Political science such as political theory, its meaning, nature and significance, relations between politics and political theory, democratic values, rights, liberty, equality and justice, social justice theoretical and practical perspectives of democracy, state and its perspective, contemporary dynamics of modern state, liberalism, Marxism Feminism, political thoughts of India and western countries, constitutional structures and institutions including their actual working of the countries of India, England, America and Switzerland, comparative study of political institutions of various countries, administration of the country from the historical and practical perspectives, administration of local institutions both rural and urban, public policy, Good governance, E-Governance, development administration, financial administration, the meaning, nature and importance of Human Rights, codes, treaties and covenants related to Human of the mankind specially of the vulnerable groups.

The students will be in a better position to engage in application of the concepts and understand the limitations.

The course will develop the critical thinking of the students regarding the functioning of the political system, political institutions, interest groups, pressure groups, civil societies and other socio-economic groups in relation to context the students are situated in. It will help the students to enhance their debating capacity in the subject.

The course will enable the students to a responsible citizen. The course will also help the citizens to acquire knowledge necessary for leadership and administration.